

Crackdown on Welfare to 39 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Twine, the federal welfare administrator, vows a crackdown against 39 states now failing to meet government welfare requirements.

"From now on we'll be bringing cases directly to Washington for determination after six months of unsuccessful negotiations in field offices," Twine said in an interview. "Things won't be stretched out forever."

He acted after a government survey showed that as of Jan. 1 only 11 states were in total compliance with congressional amendments, Supreme Court decisions, and agency standards dating back to 1967.

Compliance deadlines are months past for all states. The department of Health, Education and Welfare began enforcement proceedings against two states, Nevada and Connecticut, in recent months. But no state has yet lost its share of federal welfare aid—the stiffest penalty provided by law.

Twine indicated enforcement proceedings will be started against as many other states as necessary.

George Wiley, executive director of the National Welfare Rights Organization, was skeptical about government enforcement.

"It has taken HEW a year to admit that 40 states are in non-compliance," he said. "I must wonder how long it will take them to bring those states into compliance."

The rights organization, representing public assistance recipients, has been pushing the government for the past year to impose what it terms law and order on state welfare systems.

A number of apparent state violations cut to the heart of court and congressional reform actions in the past three years aimed at enlarging the rights of welfare recipients.

Others involve relatively minor provisions that don't directly affect the lives of the 10 million persons receiving public assistance.

Ten states, for example, lack government-approved regula-

Treatment of Polyps Dependent on Cause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What causes nasal polyps? Could they cause headaches? How can they be prevented? What treatment is recommended?

A — Polyps are usually associated with chronic sinusitis, allergic rhinitis or cystic fibrosis. Often a combination of these is present. They may cause headaches but there are so many other possible causes that a thorough diagnostic search should be made.

If the cause of the polyps can be identified the treatment should be directed toward its elimination. Since these grapelike benign tumors may obstruct the nasal passages they should be removed. If they recur after repeated operations, it may be necessary to remove the entire mucous lining of the involved sinus.

Q — My daughter, 15, has two polyps at the opening of her rectum. Is surgery the only treatment?

A — In this location a polyp may become malignant but since this is not as common as was once thought, some authorities advise withholding operation unless the tumor is more than one centimeter in diameter, its surface is rough or it bleeds. If it is removed, a microscopic examination of the specimen should be made to rule out malignant change.

Q — My doctor says I have a polyp on my cervix. Would

Would Let N. Vietnam Run Indochina

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the United States should accept North Vietnam's domination of Indochina as a political fact of life that poses no threat to American security.

"North Vietnam is far too small a power to have any serious hope of conquering all of Southeast Asia, much less of posing any kind of a threat to the United States," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Thursday. His Senate speech came during a new round of discussions on U.S. policy toward Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Senators of both parties began throwing their support behind a French proposal for an all-Indochinese conference to neutralize the three countries.

Fulbright also supported the conference idea, but he declared it makes little difference—to the United States and to the area's inhabitants—who rules Indochina.

"The plain fact that comes out of the war in Vietnam—reinforced by recent events in Laos and perhaps Cambodia as well—is that, puny as it is by great power standards, North Vietnam is the paramount power in Indochina," he declared.

"We ought to welcome North Vietnam's pre-eminence in Indochina, because while North Vietnam has shown itself strong enough to dominate Indochina if let alone by outside powers, it has also shown itself willing and able to resist Chinese domination."

He emphasized he is not advocating a Communist-dominated Indochina. "I merely propose to accept it, if it arises from the local power situation, as something unwelcome but tolerable, and most emphatically not worth the extravagant costs of a war like the one we are now fighting."

Fulbright said from the standpoint of U.S. security, "the central fact about Indochina is that it does not matter very much who rules in those small and backward lands."

Sens. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and James B. Pearson, R-Kan., introduced a resolution to put the Senate on record in support of an all-Indochinese conference on neutrality.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, after testifying three hours before Fulbright's committee, said the administration is studying the French plan, adding, "we are interested in any kind of negotiations that could lead to peace."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield threw his support behind the conference plan. Harris said the purpose of the resolution is "to strengthen the administration's hand" in starting negotiations.

Q — I am taking Pavabid for hardening of my arteries. Is this drug related to cortisone? Is it habit forming? Will it have any bad side effects if taken for a long time?

A — This drug is not related to cortisone. Since it contains a barbiturate, it may be habit forming. Its side effects include nausea, abdominal discomfort, drowsiness, dizziness, sweating and headache.

Q — I am a man, 70. I have been taking pancreatin and am now taking Festal which my doctor says is better. He also said that these drugs would not harm me even if I took more than I needed. Why, then, aren't these digestive preparations available without a prescription?

A — They are.

Office employees—and with them, more than 2 million other government workers and 3 million in the military services—reactive to Dec. 27.

Another 8 per cent for the postal workers who wrought the agreement in the wake of their first-ever strike last month, and collective bargaining rights if the Post Office Department is reorganized.

The cost was estimated at $1.2 billion the first six months of this year and $2.5 billion in fiscal 1971.

Before President Nixon's messages went to Congress, a White House aide had said "A method of pay-as-you-go has been arrived at," adding that there would be no request for an extension of the income surtax now set to expire June 30.

The increase will apply retroactive to last Dec. 27 to 2.9 million federal employees—of whom 750,000 work in the Post Office—and some 3 million military men.

"The most significant thing," said George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, "is extending collective bargaining procedure to government. This will not be lost on the people whose job is in dealing with employees in state and local governments."

Gale McGee, D-Wyo., who heads the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee of the Senate, agreed with Meany and said the government will get quick action in the Senate.

"This is the first time there has been a breakthrough on free collective bargaining at the federal level," McGee said. "This is the important thing about it."

Until now, all pay raises for government workers, including postal employees, came from Congress with unions having to lobby for increases.

McGee said the Senate would act quickly on the pay bill for all federal employees and then proceed immediately on reorganization of the Post Office Department.

The Nixon administration wants to make the department a government-owned but privately operated corporation. The agreement, as announced by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, did not spell out this portion of reorganization.

The agreement also included amnesty for the 180,000 postal employees who staged the wildcat strike that tied up the mails for several days last month and resulted in troops being called to work in New York post offices.

The public is cordially invited.

3 Officers Allegedly Abducted

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — Authorities were searching today for two men who allegedly abducted three lawenforcement officers at gunpoint Thursday night and threatened to kill them.

Capt. Wayland Speer, commander of the Jonesboro District of the State Police, said Harrisburg City Marshal Charles H. Branyan escaped and that State Trooper Joet Martz and Sheriff Ray Holmes of Poinsett County were released unharmed.

State Police said officers were searching for brothers Jerry and Gaylor Morgan of West Memphis in the incident. Officers said both were in their 20s.

Speer said the two indicated they were seeking revenge for the death of Merle Morgan, 33, of Harrisburg. Morgan died Sept. 2 in the Poinsett County Jail at Harrisburg of what authorities said was an internal hemorrhage to the left side of the head.

A Poinsett County Grand Jury investigated the death last October and returned no true bills. Martz was the officer who arrested Morgan Sept. 1 on charges of drunkenness, resisting arrest, assault and battery and disturbing the peace.

Speer gave the following description of the incident Thursday night:

The two men found Branyan at a drive-in restaurant in Harrisburg and, at gunpoint, forced him to give up his .38 caliber revolver. They then forced Branyan to use his police car to drive them to the home of Holmes.

One of the men went to the door and told Holmes that Branyan wanted to see him. Holmes was then forced inside the car and was questioned about the death of Merle Morgan. The man in the front seat with Branyan then fired at Holmes, who was in the back seat, and missed.

Branyan was then forced to drive to the home of Martz. Branyan and one of the abductors went to the door of Martz' mobile home and the trooper was then forced into the car. One of the men asked Martz if he had killed Merle Morgan and he said no. The man in the front seat then fired at Martz and missed.

Branyan was ordered to drive the car to a cemetery and the two abductors told the officers they were going to be killed over Merle Morgan's grave.

When the officers were ordered out of the car Branyan escaped. He ran through a wooded area to a house where he called authorities.

Holmes and Martz were then ordered to Merle Morgan's grave and the two men began arguing about who would shoot whom. Martz asked that he be allowed to see his daughter, who was one-year-old Wednesday, before he was killed. At that point, one of the abductors began to falter. Holmes and Martz were then driven back to Harrisburg and let out of the car unharmed.

Speer said the two abductors escaped in a pickup truck which was later found in Cross County. Officers said they believed the two were attempting to flee across the state line and set up roadblocks at various locations.

troops surprised the Rangers, opening fire on them with rifles and machine guns. Two Rangers were killed and seven were wounded.

About 30 minutes later, more infantrymen pushed into the area and came under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire. Helicopter gunships and Air Force fighter-bombers attacked the North Vietnamese force, estimated to number about 400 men.

One helicopter was shot down, but the crewmen escaped uninjured.

Fighting continued until darkness when the North Vietnamese withdrew, apparently leaving a rear guard to cover the withdrawal. Five Americans were killed and 19 wounded in the second phase of the battle, while 32 North Vietnamese dead were claimed.

Casualties were heavier, and at no cost to the enemy, when troops of the U.S. 11th Brigade triggered an enemy booby trap while on an operation 90 miles southeast of Da Nang. Ten men were killed, including seven Americans, a Viet Cong defector, another former enemy soldier serving as a scout, and a Vietnamese civilian. Nineteen Americans were wounded.

In the fighting in the northern Delta, troops of the South Vietnamese 7th Division suffered heavy losses for the second straight day.

Field reports said 29 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 32 wounded in Thursday's action near Cai Be, a district town 52 miles southwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the 7th Infantry Division forces, made up of two battalions and a reconnaissance company numbering up to 1,000 troops, killed 52 Viet Cong soldiers with the help of allied bombers and artillery.

The U.S. Command reported that enemy gunners shot down an Air Force C-7 Caribou transport in the northern Central Highlands Thursday, killing three Americans.

In a delayed report, headquarters said an Army AH-1 Cobra gunship was shot down Wednesday over Hamburger Hill, scene of an epic battle nearly a year ago. Two crewmen were wounded.

The losses raised to 6,596 the total of American helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft reported lost to all causes in Vietnam and Laos.

Passengers Released in South Korea

By K. C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL (AP) — Young Japanese ultra-leftists who hijacked a jet airliner to Korea Tuesday released 103 persons in Seoul today, took a Japanese government official aboard as hostage and then took off for North Korea.

Among the 99 passengers and four stewardesses freed after 79 hours' captivity were two American men living in Tokyo, Pepsi Cola executive Herbert Brill of New York and the Rev. Daniel MacDonald of San Francisco. The rest were Japanese.

Their enforced stay aboard the Japan Air Lines Boeing 727 far exceeded the previous record of 45 hours for the passengers of a Brazilian Caravelle jet that was hijacked from Uruguay to Cuba three months ago.

The passengers were reported in relatively good condition. Most looked healthy and cheerful. All walked down the steps from the plane without help. Some ran to the waiting buses.

After a light meal and brief physical examinations at an airport building, all but Father MacDonald left on a special plane for Fukuoka, Japan, their destination when their flight started three days ago. The priest decided to visit friends in Seoul.

Meanwhile, the big jet with the hijackers aboard apparently landed in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. South Korean officials lost radio and radar contact with it 80 minutes after it left Seoul and assumed that the pilot had landed.

The Japanese airliner took off for North Korea with 13 persons reported aboard: the pilot and two other crewmen, nine hijackers and Shinjiro Yamamura, Japan's vice minister of transportation. Yamamura volunteered to be a hostage to insure that the plane would get to North Korea, and after hours of arguing through the window of the cockpit, the young radicals agreed to let the passengers and the stewardesses go.

North Korea gave the green light for the flight to Pyongyang although it denied any connection with the hijackers. It gave no indication what it would do with the youths, who identified themselves as members of a militant student faction known as the Red Army.

Several of the students brandished samurai swords and others waved pistols or pipes they said were loaded with explosives when they seized control of the plane Tuesday morning.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

STARVATION COOK NEEDS HORN OF PLENTY
Dear Helen: What can be done about a family member who insists upon inviting the family to dinner, then doesn't cook enough?

When a dish is emptied at the beginning of the meal the comment is "Good, now we don't have to eat leftovers." We have even taken a casserole with us. Then less food is cooked!

Money is not the problem, judgement is! When we have to stop on the way home because everyone is hungry, it gets expensive—especially since we must stop on the way down and fortify ourselves against a skimpy half-meal.

Yet this hostess complains about spending her whole day in the kitchen. And if we don't accept the invitation, you should hear the criticisms!

DREAMS GOING
Dear D.G.: Maybe you're too polite about your first helpings. If visitors fill their plates and don't hold back, by the time dishes reach the hosts, there will be nothing left—and THAT should convince the cook—H.

Dear Helen: You've had many letters from "wronged women," regretful husbands, etc. Please let me tell you what happens to a wife when she learns her "good and true" husband isn't.

She has been brought up to feel that married love is sacred and "till death do us part" means more than just five words.

For 14 years, she is sure she has the most wonderful man of all. Then by accident she finds out about the other woman. Her mind rejects it, but she drifts to tranquility.

She doesn't even mention it, succeeds in pushing the worry to the far recesses of her mind.

Then two years later the blow falls again. She can't cope, so she asks him about it. Yes, it's true, he's sorry she found out about the other woman. Her mind rejects it, but she drifts to tranquility.

For a while she continues her life. Then she realizes she is seriously contemplating suicide. She sees several counselors. A psychiatrist asks, "Is that ALL your problems?" Another says it is all right for a man to be unfaithful, but not a woman. The next, "Sex and love are not the same thing." Her minister tells her to forgive and forget for the sake of the children.

Now she feels guilty because she can't forgive and forget—and because she is NOT thinking of the children. She is polite because she wants to scream out her hurt, fear and bewilderment. She's afraid tears and recriminations might drive him farther away; sweet because she wonders what is lacking in her; considerate because when she apologizes to her child for yelling at him, he says, "It's all right, Mom, I'm getting used to it."

He husband works out of town. She lies in bed wondering who he's with. She cries until there should be no tears left. She's afraid to answer the doorbell as she might find out he has fathered another woman's child.

She doesn't want to open a letter, fearing it has happened again. She wonders if he is comparing her to the other woman—in sex, looks, housekeeping, everything; where she failed.

What's bugging the wronged wife that she makes such an issue, husbands ask? Just that she wants to wake up at all. She wants to turn back the clock. This may sound melodramatic, but so help me God, it's the truth. So when men write asking you why their wives won't see an affair as "nothing," and come back to normal, let them see what goes on in their mates' heads.—M.T.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television in the 1960s frequently told us what was wrong with America. Millions of people got fed up and the medium has been on the defensive ever since.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of the network news divisions expressed the frustrations and anger many felt at seeing riots and radicals and the Vietnam war in their living room every night.

Now comes "It Couldn't Be Done," a paean to the working men who accomplished "impossible" deeds. It was shown Thursday on NBC. Executive Producer Lee Mendelson sent crews to 46 states to film such accomplishments as the Golden Gate Bridge, Hoover Dam and the Mount Rushmore Monument.

The photography is magnificent. The old films are intriguing. Songs by the Fifth Dimension and folk singer Steve Mills were pleasant. The selection of Lee Marvin as narrator was a master stroke. His rugged face and no-nonsense manner capture the spirit of the men he eulogizes.

I liked the show, but at times it reminded me of an updated version of the old-fashioned, stem-winding Fourth of July oratory. It was an unabashed, flag-waving, even at times starchy-eyed look at the men who ignored the advice of the experts to do the impossible. The controversies that surrounded some of these projects—such as those raised by conservationists—were acknowledged all too briefly, as were the abysmal working conditions of the laborers on early projects.

It was upbeat; its purpose, admittedly, was to restore a little faith and confidence in this country.

Mendelson suffused his script with a generous portion of his own good will and unbounded optimism. He writes, "Perhaps we have in our midst today visionaries who will be able to do with human communications what the builders have done in engineering—to solve the impossible. Perhaps we can start building new bridges between each other."

Don Knotts spends an hour tonight explaining why he couldn't get his special on the air. I'm glad he didn't make it; I would have hated to miss his explanation.

The CBS show, called "Don Knotts Nice, Clean, Decent, Wholesome Hour," was seen in pre-review. It is, in a word, hilarious.

He pokes fun not only at the producers of nude plays and movies, but at CBS as well. A receptionist with wings informs him CBS stands for "Clean, Beautiful and Serene."

A pantomime sequence set in a bank is one of the best I have seen lately. Unfortunately, the laugh track accompanying it is one of the most offensive I have heard.

Knotts plays the nervous, squeaky-voiced, bumbling, supremely confident nincompoop to perfection. More will be seen of Knotts next season when he has his own variety show on NBC.

The duplicate bridge player needs to give the H in ARCH a slightly different meaning than the rubber bridge player. He must ask himself, "How can I get a good match-point score?"

South's four-spade bid was one of those desperate stabs that some players like to make. He didn't expect to make four spades or even to come close, but he hoped that his opponents would take the push to five hearts.

He relaxed for a second when West passed but East doubled and South was stuck with his bad bid. When he looked at dummy, he saw that he was going to lose two hearts, two clubs and a diamond come what might. He could stand that, since down-two would only cost 300 and his opponents bid a nonvulnerable game.

If he had to lose a trump trick also, he would be down three and, since it was not likely that many more players tried the four-spade save, a minus-500 score would be worth nothing.

East took the ace of hearts and shifted to the king of diamonds. South won with his ace, led a spade to dummy's king and paused to study his next play.

Then he played a second trump from dummy after East played the 10.

The finesse worked. South pulled the last trump, led his jack of hearts to establish dummy's queen and got out for 300 after East cashed two clubs and a diamond.

South's spade finesse was a sure-thing duplicate play. If spades were going to split 2-2, his four-spade bid would have been one of those phantom saves, since East would not have made four hearts. This way, South did come out with several match points, since he beat every one who let four hearts play. (Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

♥ CARD Sense ♦♦

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Dble Rble 1♥ 1♠
2♥ Pass Pass 2♠
Pass 3♥ Pass ?
You, South, hold:
♠ A K 9 8 ♥ 4 3 ♦ A 5 2 ♣ A J 7 3
What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner doesn't have much more than the minimum eight points shown by his redouble. You can't bid three no-trump and don't want to go to the 11-trick game in clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing your partner has bid three clubs over West's two hearts. What do you do now?

The longest bridge in the world outside the United States is the Premier Antonio Salazar Bridge over the Tagus River in Portugal. The 3,323-foot span was opened in August 1966.

THOUGHTS
If they want peace, nations should avoid the pin-pricks that precede cannon shots.—Napoleon Bonaparte.
You, friend, and your father's friend, do not forsake: and do not go to your brother's house in the day of your calamity. Better is a neighbor who is near than a brother who is far away.—Proverbs 27:10.
Be slow to fall into friendship, but when thou art in, continue firm and constant.—Socrates, ancient Greek philosopher

Get The Light From GOD'S LIGHTHOUSE GUIDE YOU TO HIS CHURCH

Let Peace Be Everywhere.

In this world of false prophets and self-proclaimed wise men, may this symbol of the Holy Spirit light upon us. May the Prince of Peace put a quietus on political protagonists and eliminate all rivalry between Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Catholics and Jewish groups.

Why can't the Dove of Peace bring goodwill to all men? We must learn that preparation of the soul is much more important than progress in business and things. Of course the road to peace is more difficult than the way of strife.

Peace bears the mark of culture, of civilization, of deep piety and genuine religion.

Then let us give the "Prince of Peace" a chance. Let us all be peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God. Attend church this week and help build a world for God.

Hope Star SPORTS

Hope Golfers Win Another, Play Sat.

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

The HHS Golf team made it two victories against one defeat by beating Arkadelphia 13 1/2 to 4 1/2.

The next golf match will be here, against Crossett, on Saturday morning.

Ralph Routon took medalist honors with a 76, followed by Jack Turner's 77, Jimmy Pruden 81, and Jerry Pruden 91.

Scott Thomas and Bill Lewis led Arkadelphia with 78 and 82 respectively.

Hope bested Arkadelphia in total strokes by 29-325 to 354.

Today, the Hope track team travels to Arkadelphia for a meet. Hope will be short-handed due to a Key club convention.

Another big blow struck the track team this week when Senior John Spraggins came down with mononucleosis. He ran the open quarter and the relay teams.

The Junior High should have everyone there in shape and ready to run. Details of the meet and Saturday's golf match will be given Monday.

Kersey Still Suffers From Texas Game

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Rick Kersey literally has not recovered from Texas' two-point conversion last Dec. 6.

That three-yard run by quarterback James Street enabled Texas to gain a 15-14 victory over Arkansas in a battle of the unbeaten. The play also sidelined Kersey with a knee injury.

The injury was inflicted by middle linebacker Cliff Powell, who has graduated, and whose position Razorback coaches hope Kersey will be able to fill this fall.

Kersey vividly remembers the play that put him out of action.

"We had a rush called," Kersey said. "I was playing right end and Powell came through the left side. He was covering the line behind Street as Street was running the option play. Cliff grabbed him from behind and Street cut across the goal. When he did, Cliff was kind of slung across and both his legs hit mine."

Kersey said the knee seems to be "coming along real good but the doctors say no contact this spring."

The Razorbacks opened spring training this week but Kersey said about all the practice he can hope for is some "dummy work in at linebacker by the end of the spring."

Kersey was a linebacker at Conway High School and was moved to noseman when Arkansas was employing a 5-4 defense.

"I liked playing noseman because all I had to do was go after the ball," said Kersey, who was moved to defensive tackle when the Razorbacks switched to a 4-3 defensive alignment. "It took a long time to make the adjustment. You can't go after the ball in a 4-3, you have to sit there and wait."

Can he make the full cycle and go back to linebacker?

"I played it in high school and enjoyed it," said Kersey. "As far as my size (5-11, 200), I feel more comfortable at linebacker than I do at tackle or end. I don't think defending the run would bother me, but I'm worried about covering the pass."

In Arkansas' scheme, the defensive alignment responsibility rests on the middle linebacker. "You've got to be able to check to the formations and stuff like that," Kersey said. "There's a lot of memory work and we haven't even gotten to that. I haven't really worked with the formations. That's what I'm going to try to do this spring, just learn the different sets."

It would be difficult for Kersey to miss spring practice and step in as middle linebacker against the Razorbacks' opening opponent, Stanford University, on Sept. 12.

"That's the one thing that's bothering me about moving to linebacker," he said. "To learn you need experience at that position."

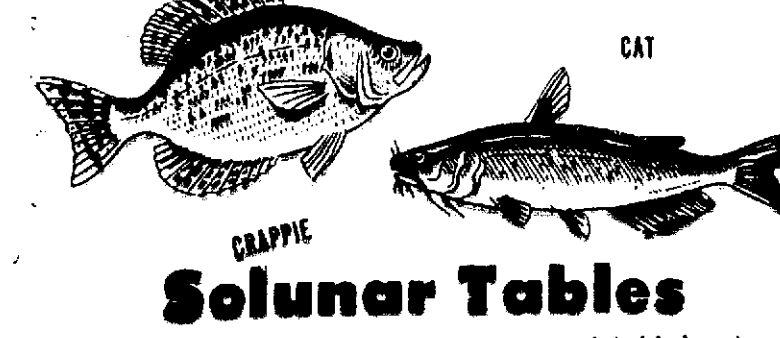

If Kersey fails to make the grade at middle linebacker, he'll be moved back into the front four.

"I think I could go back and play in the line without any trouble," he said. "I just hope I have a job there."

Rest assured defensive line coach Charley Coffey would welcome with open arms the player he once labeled the best 200-pound defensive tackle in the nation.

broader games of the old Braves, was retained Thursday to originate the play-by-play broadcasts, feeding a network of 40 to 50 stations throughout Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois and Upper Michigan.

The selection of a station for television coverage of certain road games will be announced later, the Brewers said.

Likes Boston, Minnesota in American

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — If anybody is going to beat the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East, it will be the Boston Red Sox. If anybody is going to top the Minnesota Twins in the American League West, it will be the Oakland A's.

It says here the Red Sox will do the job on the Orioles, although they finished third, 22 games back, in 1969, but Minnesota will stagger past Oakland in the West only to be ambushed by the Red Sox in the pennant playoff.

Each division shapes up as a two-team race. Detroit appears demoralized by the Denny McLain affair. Washington can cause trouble. The New York Yankees still lack long ball punch and Cleveland just doesn't have it. Behind Minnesota and Oakland in the West, Kansas City, Chicago and California figure to scramble for the crumbs with Seattle-Milwaukee in the rear.

In the two-division system, each team plays each of the other five teams in its division 18 times and each of the six in the other division 12 times. The Twins fattened up on the West last season and should do it again.

Jim Lonborg appears back on the beam. The addition of Gary Peters from the White Sox seems to have given the Red Sox a solid pitching base that includes Ray Culp and Mike Nagy. George Scott had an outstanding spring and Carl Yastrzemski had one of his best exhibition seasons. Catching appears to be Boston's chief problem now that Luis Alvarado has fitted into the infield at third base.

Here's the way the two divisions look from here:

- How can you pick against the Orioles, a team that finished 19 games in front of Detroit last year?
- Just go back a year. Detroit had won the 1968 pennant by 12 games and had polished off the St. Louis Cardinals in a seven-game World Series. The Tigers appeared just as unbeatable last spring as the Orioles today.
- The Orioles have a solid lineup from top to bottom with fine power in Boog Powell, Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair, Mike Cuellar, Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Tom Phoebus are tough pitchers to crack. A rookie has to be a new Ty Cobb to break into the starting lineup. Still, this same awe-inspiring array of talent fell before the Mets last October. It could happen again.
- Boston is hungry. With a new manager, Eddie Kasko, at the helm to create a new spirit of togetherness on a club that feuded with Dick Williams last year, they could recapture the spark of 1967.
- Much depends on Alvarado, a hotshot shortstop in the minors but now a third baseman. If he makes it, Scott can remain in first where he prefers to play. Rico Petrocelli and Mike Andrews form a fine second short combo and the outfield of Yaz, Reggie Smith and Tony Conigliaro is second to none.
- Ted Williams worked miracles with his Washington club last year, finishing only one game behind the red Sox. With hitters like Frank Howard, Ken McMullen and Mike Epstein to carry the load, the Senators could sneak into third place.
- The McLain case and a subsequent magazine article by Bill Freehan, who wrote of dissension in the clubhouse, may have wrecked the Tigers. Mickey Lolich must carry the heavy load. The lineup still is solid with Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley, Norm Cash and Freehan to swing the bat. Who can replace McLain's 24 wins? The answer is easy — nobody.
- Ralph Houk hopes to get more zing in the batting order with Curt Blefary in right field and Danny Cater on first. Rookie Catcher Thurman Munson must come through big and Bobby Murcer must have a big year or Mel Stottlemyre, Fritz Peterson and Stan Bahnsen must struggle along without any big innings.
- Ken Harrelson's loss was a tough blow to the Cleveland club

The Twins floundered through spring training, losing nine in a row at one stage, Harmon Killebrew, bothered by a chronic knee condition, was slow coming around, Bill Rigney is counting on Luis Tiant to step in there with Jim Kaat, Jim Perry and Dave Boswell while the Killer and Tony Oliva do the heavy bombing.

Oakland might just be ready to make its move. The A's gave the Twins a scare last year until the very end. The addition of Don Mincher and Felipe Alou, plus the holdover power of Reggie Jackson and Rick Monday should keep them in most games.

Kansas City surprised a lot of people last year and Charlie Metro will be cracking the whip to get the most out of the players he personally picked as scouting director in the expansion draft. The White Sox are short on pitching and the Angels are weak at the bat. The three should finish in a pack with third fourth and fifth up for grabs.

And the Seattle Pilots? They won't even be in the league this season. Milwaukee's Brewers will have to be satisfied with dreams of the future.

Suns Seem to Be Rising in the West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's probably only a quirk of the National Basketball Association's solar system, but the Suns are rising in the West.

The Phoenix Suns, that is, in the Western Division.

The surprising Suns burned Los Angeles 112-98 Thursday night and took a 2-1 lead over the favored Lakers in their best-of-7 Western semifinal series.

In the East, the New York Knicks clobbered Baltimore 101-80 for a 3-2 edge over the powderless Bullets, who misfired terribly in the fourth period, when they managed a meager three baskets in 30 shots and were outscored 25-11.

The other two semifinal series could end tonight. In the East, the Philadelphia 76ers, down three games to one, take on the Milwaukee Bucks at Madison, Wis. The Atlanta Hawks, winners of the Western regular season pennant, go after a four-game sweep of the Bulls in Chicago.

"We've got them (the Lakers) where we want them — at home," said Jerry Colangelo, the Phoenix coach-general manager, when his club returned from a split in Los Angeles.

The Suns took a slim lead in the third period Thursday night and poured it on in the fourth. Gall Goodrich paced the Suns with 29 points and Paul Silas had 21, along with 16 rebounds, as Phoenix controlled the boards 59-32.

Jerry West topped the Lakers with 31 points but Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain were held to a subpar 20 and 11, respectively.

"The play of Paul Silas has been the big story of the series," Baylor said before the game. "We expected Connie Hawkins to get his share of points and rebounds. But Silas, he's been a little too much."

Silas has 78 points and 53 rebounds in the three games. Hawkins scored 19 points Thursday night.

The Knicks bounced back from two straight defeats and walloped the Bullets behind a scintillating 36-point, record 36-rebound performance by Willis Reed, the NBA's most valuable player.

"He chased me off the court," said Baltimore's Wes Unseld, who outrebounced the entire New York team with 34 in Sunday's game as the Bullets began their comeback. Unseld had only 10 points and 13 rebounds Thursday night.

Reed took a cortisone shot in his ailing left knee and said, "It did the job, but I hope I don't have to take another one before Sunday," meaning the nationally televised (ABC-TV) sixth game in Baltimore.

The Knicks led only 76-69 after three periods but moved out to a 91-72 spread as the Bullets canned only one of their first 18 shots in the final quarter.

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Pilots became a thing of the past Thursday when a bankruptcy referee affixed his signature to an order allowing the American League team's sale to Milwaukee Brewers Inc.

But the past apparently is going to be recalled by loud echoes one of these days.

William Dwyer, special assistant state attorney general, said an $82 million antitrust suit against the league and the owners of the defunct Seattle baseball franchise probably will come up in court in about a year.

The suit, brought by Washington State and Seattle, seeks damages for economic injury it contends will result from loss of the Pilots.

When the federal bankruptcy referee, Sidney Volinn, signed the order at 7:50 p.m. EST, he gave the state and the city the go ahead on the suit. Volinn had suspended all legal action while he considered a petition from the Pilots owners for permission to sell to the Brewers for $10.8 million, most of which was to pay off $8.13 million in debts.

Even before the suit comes up in court, however, organized baseball may be in for trouble because of the sale.

Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry Jackson and Rep. Brock Adams, all Washington Democrats, have said they will introduce legislation in Congress next week in an effort to strip the sport of its 50-year-old immunity from federal antitrust laws.

McLain, the 26-year-old Tiger pitching star, was suspended by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Wednesday until July 1. Kuhn said the punishment was for McLain's association with gamblers involved in an alleged bookmaking operation in Flint, Mich., in 1967.

McLain said later after Kuhn's announcement that he wanted to pitch immediately upon his return. The Tigers host New York July 1 and Manager Mayo Smith said he would start Denny and even joked that McLain might shut out the Yankees.

McLain will not be allowed to work out with the Tigers and General Manager Jim Campbell said he doubted if McLain would be allowed to play semi-pro ball.

"It's my understanding that I can't be associated with semi-pro ball, so I'll just have to wait and see," he added.

First Kill Reported

The first of two spring Turkeys seasons opened Wednesday and about 9 a.m. Lonnie Norman of Washington appeared at the Star office with a fine 20 pound Tom. Lonnie has been among the first to report a kill for quite some time. The other fellow in the picture is his son, and some say he is the one who made the kill.

Hope Coaches, Prescott in Victories

Prescott downed the Spring Hill Independents 98-94 last night in the basketball tournament going on at Spring Hill.

Bradshaw tossed in 28 and Parris 18 for the winners while Spring Hill's Charlie Sooter hit 20 and Clinton Kidd 17.

The Hope Coaches downed Magnolia 94 to 87. Kenny Hughes and Nagelene Cross both had 27 for Hope. L. Bennett made 24 and J. George 22 for Magnolia.

Friday night at 7 o'clock Prescott meets Nashville while Hope Coaches go against Perry's Truckers.

Broyles Not Pleased With Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles was not pleased Thursday with the practice performance of the Razorback football team.

"We had just two days practice to try to get everything right," Broyles said. "But we did nothing well at all, not anything well. We were disorganized."

The pass receivers and running backs went through a skeleton drill against the linebackers and defensive backs early in the practice. Bill Montgomery was the most impressive of the quarterbacks, completing his first seven passes.

Walter Nelson completed four of nine and Joe Ferguson, the highly regarded freshman, hit on five of 11 with one interception.

$50,000 Is Racing Prize Saturday

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — T. A. and J. E. Grissom stole the $50,000 Oaklawn Handicap last week with front-running Charlie Jr.

Saturday, the prize is the $50,000 Arkansas Derby and the Grissoms may pull off another coup with Spotted Line. About 12 3-year-olds are expected to go to the post Saturday in what is shaping up as a wide-open race.

Spotted Line had not raced more than seven furlongs until last week, when he finished second to Admiral's Shield at one mile and 70 yards.

W. C. Robinson's Admiral's Shield may go to the post Saturday as the favorite in the 1 1/8-mile event.

Spotted Line, a front-running speedster, is expected to improve off his last outing, his first around the Oaklawn track. He reared when the gate opened, gained the lead early and held on until the final yards. The track was less than fast and a fast strip could be another factor in Spotted Line's favor.

Admiral's Shield has won his last two outings, coming from off the pace both times, in both races. Admiral's Shield began drifting toward the rail after gaining the lead.

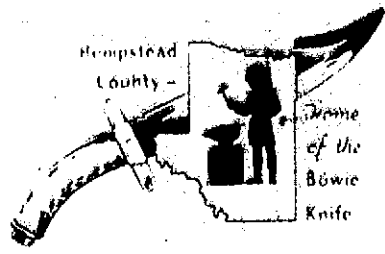

"He automatically runs toward the lead horse," said jockey Stanley Spencer. "In the Derby, I intend to really get in this horse late. He will have no

Thousands of Truckers Back at Work

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of striking truck drivers went back to work today under a tentative agreement that reportedly will hike their average wage by more than $1 an hour over three years.

Teamsters union acting president Frank E. Fitzsimmons asked the strikers to return to their jobs pending a mail vote by the 425,000 workers covered by the tentative agreement announced Thursday.

Most of the 425,000 drivers had stayed on the job after the old contract expired midnight Tuesday but wildcat strikes in dozens of cities added up to the biggest trucking walkout in the nation's history.

"Tentative agreement has been reached on monetary issues for a new contract," said a joint announcement by Fitzsimmons and chief industry negotiator Ray F. Beagle of Trucking Employers Inc.

"The parties substantially worked it out for themselves," said J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service who had participated in the talks. He called the agreement "an achievement for collective bargaining."

Details of the agreement were withheld pending results of the mail referendum among the workers but sources in the negotiations confirmed the wage hike figure of more than $1 per hour for the approximately 325,000 city truck drivers. These men now average about $4 an hour and about $10,000 a year with overtime and other benefits.

There was also a reported raise of 1 1/4 cents a mile for the 100,000 long distance drivers who are now paid from 11 to 14 cents a mile and earn an average of $13,000 a year.

The total three-year cost of the agreement was reported at well over $2 billion.

Fitzsimmons and Beagle said some remaining details on geographical area supplements to the national contract will be worked out by next week.

Cattlemen Alarmed by Carswell Backers Plan to Set Up Watch on Beef Production

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm
WASHINGTON (AP) — A cattle industry spokesman says he is alarmed by a congressional panel's urging creation of a federal commission to keep watch on beef production from ranch to supermarket.

C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said the proposal might be the first step toward government supervision of the industry.

"Based on our limited knowledge of the report, the tenor of it is quite alarming, even if such a commission is considered on a temporary basis," he said.

A special studies subcommittee headed by Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., recommended of Thursday a commission of not more than 18 members is needed for at least two years to study whether meat production is meeting the needs of the consumer.

The report, which also advocates liberalization of U.S. import laws so more hamburger-type beef can be admitted from overseas, is expected to be considered Wednesday by the House Committee on Government Operations.

A major contention of the report is that beef production, including imports, has not increased fast enough to satisfy consumer appetites without higher prices.

"Congress should establish a commission to determine the adequacy of the meat supply for consumers at reasonable prices with a reasonable return to producers, packers and distributors," the report said.

Monagan, contacted in Waterbury, Conn., said he did not intend the proposed commission to be a regulatory body over the cattle industry.

Disclosure of the report came as the Nixon administration turned down an opportunity to expand meat imports this year to help ease consumer meat prices at retail stores.

Meat imports are closely supervised under a 1964 law tailoring shipments according to U.S. production. So-called voluntary agreements with supplying countries have kept imports below a quota-trigger level.

The law provides that if quotas are triggered the President can suspend them in the national interest and allow more meat into the United States. By keeping shipments under the trigger point, this alternative is eliminated.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Thursday that 1970 meat imports are not expected to trigger quotas.

Monagan's report said projections indicate consumers "will encounter a beef shortage of some magnitude" by 1975 unless measures are taken immediately.

"If the American consumer is not to pay rather high prices for beef, as in the middle of 1969," the report said, "then the Meat Import Act must provide for the adjustment each year according to estimated demand as well as cattle production."

McMillan disputed the report's contention that a beef shortage exists or that worse is imminent. The report said beef production has not increased "at the generally accepted minimum rate" of three per cent a year to keep pace with consumer demand.

Leaders of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO—agreed Thursday to order their men back to work by the weekend.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr., then dismissed contempt proceedings against PATCO Executive Director F. Lee Bailey and two other union leaders.

Later, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman confirmed that three controllers who had been ordered from Baton Rouge, La., to new posts and who had not reported to their new assignments were in the early stages of dismissal proceedings.

The transfers, which PATCO said were aimed at undercutting the union, were a prime spark to the current work stoppage, which has curbed air travel throughout the country since March 25.

Carswell Backers Confident

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces showed increasing confidence today as anti-Carswell senators pressed an all-out effort to capture 16 undecided Senate votes holding the key to confirmation of President Nixon's Supreme Court nominee.

Unleashing a torrent of speeches and statements, opponents of G. Harrold Carswell held the Senate floor until long after dark Thursday, centering their assault on Nixon's assertion that his power of appointment is threatened.

They also fired off a letter to the Justice Department demanding to know procedures for checking Supreme Court nominees. And they produced a new document they said proved Carswell misled the Judiciary Committee on the extent of his involvement in establishing a white-only golf club.

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., told a newsman those against confirmation of the 50-year-old Florida federal judge were counting on swinging crucial votes by hammering away on the floor and in private at a letter Nixon sent to Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, earlier in the week.

In that letter, Nixon said charges against Carswell of racism and mediocrity were baseless and that those opposing the judge were seeking to rob the President of the constitutional power to appoint members of the court.

"The record shows that the Senate has been granted a clear and significant independent role in the appointment of Supreme Court judges," the letter said.

Casualties continued to rise. Official but incomplete reports said at least 79 Americans, 267 South Vietnamese troops and 770 enemy had been killed since Tuesday night, when the Communist command launched its heaviest attacks in eight months.

Another 423 American and 748 South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded.

At least 104 Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and 292 wounded.

The number of shelling attacks was on the decline, having been 130 from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday, 73 in the next 24 hours, and 60 between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. today. But a spokesman pointed out that this was much higher than the 24-hour average of 12 such attacks in March and 18 in February.

Fighting continued near the Cambodian border 44 miles northwest of Saigon, but field reports said contact was sporadic and the bulk of the enemy apparently had pulled back toward a major base camp called the Angel's Wing inside Cambodia.

Acting on an intelligence report, the U.S. 25th Division had sent in a small Ranger patrol to check the wooded region early Thursday. North Vietnamese

Grass Tetany Has Already Appeared

Grass tetany is a disease condition of cattle associated with the digestion of lush forage or pasture resulting in a reduced magnesium level in the blood serum. The disease is also known as "grass staggers," "wheat pasture poisoning," and "protein poisoning."

According to Dr. David Ibsen, Extension veterinarian, several cases of grass tetany have already appeared.

Cattle pastured on lush, rank, young growth of spring pastures and on lush winter forage crops of oats, rye, or wheat, are the most susceptible. The lowering of the blood serum magnesium level is considered to be the cause of the symptoms.

Symptoms can appear within a week of exposure to young pastures but can be as long as six months in development. Cows in the late stage of pregnancy or those that have recently freshened are the primary victims.

Grass tetany occurs more frequently on farms that practice a high level of fertilization and appears in herds at the time of low nutritional level.

Dr. Ibsen said signs of grass tetany include excitement, incoordination, and lack of appetite. Salivation, grinding of teeth, and muscular twitching are also notices. Animals can resemble "rabbits" and become belligerent, stagger, and finally collapse. Convulsions and tetanic seizures are seen along with labored and difficult breathing.

The condition may be offset by the feeding of magnesium oxide or the heavy fertilization of pastures with magnesium.

Supplemental mineral blocks containing 14 per cent magnesium have been used with success in offsetting grass tetany.

An alternate supplement consisting of two parts Dical, two parts magnesium oxide, and one part salt can be used during the susceptible period as an aid in preventing grass tetany.

Postmen Get Pay Hikes as Does All Other Civil Service Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's postmen got their pay raise and pulled all other Civil Service employees and military men up with them in a landmark agreement that for the first time provides collective bargaining rights for government workers.

The agreement, reached Thursday but still subject to congressional approval, was scheduled for formal presentation to Capitol Hill today in the form of presidential messages.

As worked out in talks that opened March 25, the pact provides a 14 per cent, two-step raise for postal workers that breaks down this way:

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong kept up their new "high point" of intensified attacks across South Vietnam today, shelling 60 positions and battling South Vietnamese troops in the northern Mekong Delta and American forces near the Cambodian border.

Casualties continued to rise. Official but incomplete reports said at least 79 Americans, 267 South Vietnamese troops and 770 enemy had been killed since Tuesday night, when the Communist command launched its heaviest attacks in eight months.

Another 423 American and 748 South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded.

At least 104 Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and 292 wounded.

The number of shelling attacks was on the decline, having been 130 from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday, 73 in the next 24 hours, and 60 between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. today. But a spokesman pointed out that this was much higher than the 24-hour average of 12 such attacks in March and 18 in February.

Fighting continued near the Cambodian border 44 miles northwest of Saigon, but field reports said contact was sporadic and the bulk of the enemy apparently had pulled back toward a major base camp called the Angel's Wing inside Cambodia.

Acting on an intelligence report, the U.S. 25th Division had sent in a small Ranger patrol to check the wooded region early Thursday. North Vietnamese

Grass Tetany Has Already Appeared

Grass tetany is a disease condition of cattle associated with the digestion of lush forage or pasture resulting in a reduced magnesium level in the blood serum. The disease is also known as "grass staggers," "wheat pasture poisoning," and "protein poisoning."

According to Dr. David Ibsen, Extension veterinarian, several cases of grass tetany have already appeared.

Cattle pastured on lush, rank, young growth of spring pastures and on lush winter forage crops of oats, rye, or wheat, are the most susceptible. The lowering of the blood serum magnesium level is considered to be the cause of the symptoms.

Symptoms can appear within a week of exposure to young pastures but can be as long as six months in development. Cows in the late stage of pregnancy or those that have recently freshened are the primary victims.

Grass tetany occurs more frequently on farms that practice a high level of fertilization and appears in herds at the time of low nutritional level.

Dr. Ibsen said signs of grass tetany include excitement, incoordination, and lack of appetite. Salivation, grinding of teeth, and muscular twitching are also notices. Animals can resemble "rabbits" and become belligerent, stagger, and finally collapse. Convulsions and tetanic seizures are seen along with labored and difficult breathing.

The condition may be offset by the feeding of magnesium oxide or the heavy fertilization of pastures with magnesium.

Supplemental mineral blocks containing 14 per cent magnesium have been used with success in offsetting grass tetany.

An alternate supplement consisting of two parts Dical, two parts magnesium oxide, and one part salt can be used during the susceptible period as an aid in preventing grass tetany.

Postmen Get Pay Hikes as Does All Other Civil Service Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's postmen got their pay raise and pulled all other Civil Service employees and military men up with them in a landmark agreement that for the first time provides collective bargaining rights for government workers.

The agreement, reached Thursday but still subject to congressional approval, was scheduled for formal presentation to Capitol Hill today in the form of presidential messages.

As worked out in talks that opened March 25, the pact provides a 14 per cent, two-step raise for postal workers that breaks down this way:

A 6 per cent increase for Post

Coffee Breaks Very Important in Keeping Workers on the Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Many Americans stay on the job today not because they like work or need the money but because they enjoy the coffee breaks.

These twice-a-day pauses in the office grind have become the nation's most popular social institution. They are better than cocktail parties because, after all, you don't get paid while attending a cocktail party.

Employees who used to phone in sick at the slightest sneeze now drag themselves into the office, even though they look at death's door, because they can't stand the thought of staying home and missing the goings-on during the coffee breaks.
